Join Us in Lake Como

There are destinations that simply host an event. And then there is Lake Como.

This year's Connectionology conference will unfold along the shimmering shores of one of Italy's most breathtaking landscapes. Framed by alpine peaks and lined with grand historic villas, Lake Como offers a setting that is as inspiring as the conversations that will take place within it.

Over the course of this carefully curated experience, you will immerse yourself in the rich flavors and traditions of Northern Italy. Think intimate gatherings set against panoramic water views. Candlelit evenings featuring regional wines and delicately prepared cuisine. Mornings that begin with crisp mountain air and purposeful dialogue. Every detail has been designed to awaken the senses and elevate your experience.

This is not simply a conference. It is an atmosphere. A convergence of insight, culture, and connection in one of the most extraordinary destinations in the world.

Space is intentionally limited to preserve the intimacy and caliber of the experience. Once capacity is reached, registration will close. Based on early interest, we expect this event to sell out quickly.

If Lake Como has ever been on your list, this is the moment to experience it in a way few ever do. Secure your place now and join us for a gathering that will resonate long after you return home.
